Introduction

Like all of you, the I-care Group teams are at war with the Covid-19.

It is a terrible new enemy of our lives and our activities. By its novelty it pushes us to creativity with rigor and great agility. It is terrible, dangerous and invisible. However, there are other invisible threats just as scary as we know and for which at I-care we have implemented protections.

We are convinced that part of the methods applied for years against the enemies of contamination in the pharmaceutical industry, invisible enemies in the nuclear industry and everyday enemies in the water and food industry are a great source of inspiration to overcome it.

I-care performs its activities on a safe, responsible and solidary manner by means of prevention measures for all employees and customers. Under difficult conditions, our employees take care of hundreds of companies and factories around the world, in often essential activities: health, food, energy ... Thanks to their efforts and a dedicated methodology, I-care withstands the difficulties:

- Only 1 I-care employee out of 400 tested positive for Covid-19. He is doing well and is back to work!
- Our global activity has decreased by max20%, following the closure of many activities.
- We are already preparing for the resumption of our growth.

Our proven control methods combined with the rigor and traceability implemented in obtaining global health and safety certifications at I-care or specific to each customer allow us to approach the day after tomorrow certainly with humility but also with great serenity.

This is why we propose to all via the Health-care program to terminate the fight together in order to quickly, completely and safely for all actors restart your economic activity.
